Mrs. Julia Kinney yesterday sold Dr. O. B. Estes lot 4, block 30, Olney's Astoria. The property is 50x100 feet and is situated at the southwest corner of Sixth and Commercial streets. The transaction also involves title to the two residences on the land. The consideration was $4500, which amount was paid in cash. The purchase is regarded as a very good one, as property in the vicinity has repeatedly been refused for sale. Dr. Estes stated last evening that the transaction was merely an investment on his part. He will continue his residence at Eleventh and Commercial streets.

John P. Munsinger, a well known resident of the Nehalem country, was in the city yesterday.

ASKS $1000 OF COUNTY

Alexander H. McDonald, of Westport, Files Unusual Suit in the Circuit Court.

INJURED ON COUNTY ROAD

Alleges That County Court Was Negligent as to Condition of Highway—Wants Damages.

Alexander H. McDonald, who lives at Westport, wants Clatsop county to pay him $1000 for injuries suffered through an accident which he attributes to the bad condition of the county road about one mile from the little town at the eastern border of the county. The papers in the case were filed yesterday afternoon by Messrs. Abercrombie & Wilson, attorneys for McDonald.

The complaint recites that the accident occurred on July 20 of the present year. The plaintiff was riding along the road in a wagon, drawn by two horses and loaded with hay. The road was in very bad shape and the wagon toppled over. The plaintiff was thrown from it and fell to the ground, a distance of 15 feet, striking a pile of rocks. He avers that he suffered a dislocated ankle and that the ligaments in the leg were so badly torn and strained as to result in permanent lameness.

According to the complaint, the attention of the county court had been frequently, at various times, called to the condition of the highway, but the court had failed to make provision for its repair. The plaintiff alleges that he used the utmost precaution in driving his team on the road, but that the accident could not be avoided by him. He asks the court to award him damages in the sum of $1000, as well as the costs and disbursements of the suit.

Some weeks ago McDonald presented a claim to the county court for damages. At that time he asked $150. His petition for the sum was based on the accident occurring on the county road, and the county court refused to allow it. McDonald now seeks to recover by action at law. The case will be tried out at the next regular term of the circuit court.

The No. 3 engine house is being wired and a new up to date indicator bell is being installed. The Reliance Electrical Works has the contract for doing the work.

The registrations at the office of Auditor Anderson yesterday afternoon were as follows in the several precincts No. 1, 63; No. 2, 113; No. 3, 131; No. 4, 124; No. 5, 38; No. 6, 30; total, 549.

The Unique has an unusually interesting show on this week and the house is nightly packed. The performers are vaudeville artists of no mean ability and Manager Alfonso Hager finds it difficult to accommodate the crowds. The show is by far the best for the money that has ever been given in Astoria.

H. Peters, erstwhile chef of the schooner Marconi, who is locked up in the county jail as a witness against Frank Murphy, charged with larceny, is laid out on a cot in the main corridor. Peters is sick, and it is believed he has shown symptoms of appendicitis.

The Imperial oyster and chop house has been opened on Commercial street opposite Peterson & Brown's store by S. M. Gallagher, a well known caterer. Mr. Gallagher has a very neat place of business and will keep constantly on hand all the delicacies of the season, including the famous Toke Point oysters. The public is invited to give the Imperial a trial.

Word reached the city yesterday that Martha H. M. Brown who was committed to the insane asylum at Salem from Clatsop county in October, 1903, has been released.

County Judge Trenchard yesterday made an order authorizing Frank A. Hall, administrator of the estate of Ralph W. Hall, deceased, to sell at private sale 160 acres of land in section 10, township 5 north of range 8 west; also, lot 29, block 27, Hill's First addition to Astoria.

Every one about is looking forward to the social to be given by the girls of the high school this evening in the assembly room of the school. There will doubtless be a good attendance as the affair is pretty well patronized. Tonight's entertainment will be especially fine. The program will be first-class and the candy table will be all that was said for it yesterday.

There is no doubt but that Erickson and Sture, the unfortunate fishermen who were out in the great storm in an open fishing boat, have both been lost. The boat was found and identified as the one the men left this city in. It was capsized when picked up and only a few joints of stove pipe were found in it. No trace of the bodies has been found and it may be months before they are recovered, if they ever are.

A story of a hold-up went the rounds yesterday, and the matter was placed in the hands of Constable Utzinger. It appears that a man who is employed on the government work at Fort Stevens came to Astoria with $75 in his pockets. He is said to have spent considerable of his time on the Bowery, and when he came to his money had disappeared. No arrests have as yet been made, nor is any likely.

Dispatches from San Francisco state that the Progress Steamship Company as owners of the steamship Edith, has filed a libel suit in the United States district court to recover $350,000 salvage for towing the derelict steam schooner Charles Nelson into port. The Nelson is the vessel that left this port lumber laden and was abandoned by her crew after being nearly wrecked. She was first taken in tow by the Aurilia and was later picked up by the Edith.

A. F. Fiegel, the man of the hour in Portland, visited Astoria some years ago as a delegate to the Epworth League convention. The friends he made upon that occasion stoutly aver that Fiegel "can do no wrong," and are confident that if the resolution for investigation, shelved because of a "technical flaw," had gone into effect, the result would be that the outspoken councilman would be fully cleared of the charges that have been imputed against him.

Tomorrow morning the reserved seat sale opens at Griffin's book store for James Neil and his magnificent company in the romantic drama, "A Gentleman of France." Mr. Neil is the foremost matinee actor of the day, one whom the gods seem to have intended for a hero with a sword and the conquest of a lady's heart. The great fight on the stairs in the second act has been adjudged by all the New York dailies to be the most thrilling and dangerous fight ever played on the stage of a theater. Secure your tickets early and don't get left.

The funeral of the late Peter Pytinen will be held from the K. of P. hall this afternoon at 1 o'clock under the auspices of the Finnish Brotherhood Society. Rev. Rissanen, of the Finnish church in the west end, will conduct the services. The interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. Mr. Pytinen died a widower and is survived by one daughter, who resides in San Francisco. Miss Pytinen arrived in the city yesterday, accompanied by a brother of the deceased, to attend the funeral services.

Suit to recover money alleged to have been lost at Faro bank and craps has been filed in the state circuit court by Eugene Farley against the Portland Club, Peter Grant, Jack Grant, Harry Dale, Nate Solomon and L. Sullivan. The amount lost is alleged to have been $600, and Farley sues to recover $1200 under a statute which allows a person to recover double the sum lost at a gambling game. The Grants, Dale and other defendants are stated in the complaint to be the owners and proprietors of the Portland Club, and Farley is said to have lost $600 at the place between November 1 and November 15.

As a member of the recent commission, delegated by this state to confer with the Washington committee during the last session of the Washington legislature, looking to a harmonious policy regarding the salmon fisheries of the two states on the Columbia, Hon. Frank Davey takes much interest in the matter and referred to the subject while in the city yesterday. Mr. Davey said that the trouble between the states is occasioned by a difference of opinion regarding the operation of traps and wheels, Washington favoring them while Oregon is working for their abolishment. Another discordant feature is the Sunday closing law. In Mr. Davey's opinion, committees of representative fish men of the two states should be officially appointed, with the understanding that they meet and settle the subject on a compromise basis "if it is necessary," said Mr. Davey, "that the two states work in unity, and, as their needs are about identical there should be no especial difficulty in effecting harmonious relations that would endure."

A RECORD GIRL BABY

Infant That Arrived at the McMullen Home Last Night Weighs Seventeen Pounds.

HEALTHY AND WELL-FORMED

Is Easily the Biggest Baby Ever Born in Astoria and One of the Largest Girls Ever Born.

One of the biggest girl babies on record was born in Astoria last evening to Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter McMullen, who reside at 553 Eleventh street. The newcomer weighed 17 pounds. Dr. A. A. Finch, the attending physician, states that the baby is by far the largest he has ever seen, and inquiry among other physicians elicited the information that Miss McMullen outweighs any other child ever born in Astoria. The "little one" is the picture of health and its mother is likewise getting along nicely.

Mrs. McMullen is a large woman, but only of ordinary height, and the father is a medium-sized man. The record baby is the sixth that has been born in the McMullen household and is just about twice the size of those born before it.

Some idea of the immense size of the McMullen child can be gained from the statement that the average weight of an infant at its birth is seven pounds. Medical authorities place the average at this figure. The largest child ever born weighed 23 pounds. This infant was a boy. Monstrosities have been born at times weighing more than 22 pounds, perhaps, but consideration is here given only to healthy, well-formed infants, such as the McMullen child. Dr. Estes stated last evening that a child weighing 20 pounds was born at Cathlamet some years ago. The child was a monstrosity and both mother and infant died. The mother of this child weighed but 90 pounds. The McMullen child is not only healthy and well-formed, but is as well of more than ordinary beauty—a real sweet girl, with every indication of more than usual intelligence.

"The size of a child at birth has little to do with the size of the matured person," said a physician last night. "This statement is made in a general sense. Some of the smallest babies develop into the largest persons. Personally, I weighed four and one half pounds at birth, and I believe you will agree that no one would now call me small. Of course, a large infant has the better chance of being a large man or woman, but, comparatively speaking, there is much greater growth among small infants than among large ones. A 17-pound girl baby is an unusual occurrence, and I am satisfied the newcomer at the McMullen home holds the local record."

Large babies are not unusual in Astoria, and only last evening Dr. Estes reported the birth of an 11-pound girl to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Holten, of 1629 Franklin avenue. It will be observed that the combined weight of the McMullen and Holten infants would be equivalent to that of four ordinary-sized infants—a condition of affairs that is respectfully commended to the consideration of President Roosevelt (although the president, in furtherance of his ideas on race suicide, would doubtless be much better pleased if the weight of the two new girls were divided into four parts.)

It is reported that owing to the crowded condition of Alderbrook school a petition will be presented by the citizens of that section to the school board, asking that the present force of teachers be increased by an addition of one. The rooms have too large an attendance for comfort at present, according to the parents of some of the pupils.

The practice of the All Star football team last night was not satisfactory to the faithful few that attended. If this state of affairs continues the result will be no game, or if there is one it will be a farcical affair, embarrassing to the participants and tiresome to the spectators. The idea of the All Stars in going upon the field is merely to afford the Commercial Club team a good practice game that will fit the men for the big contest with the Vancouver soldiers and to create a fund to assist in defraying the expense of the trip. Therefore, the men of the All Stars should be accorded every encouragement if such an event as a football game is to come off next Sunday.
